THE LAW

As you may be aware any occupier of a commercial property is required under the management of health & safety at work regulations 1999 (including the recent slip & trip act) to assess risks and take measures to protect employees and customers from the hazard that icy conditions present. Failing to do so may result in exposure to litigation by any injured party slipping on your icy grounds.

Weather Monitored 24/7

We monitor the weather conditions continually, dispatching our gritters at the first ice warning from the MET Office before your staff and visitors even arrive at work.
